Forecast For Strathclyde
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Tuesday 22 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mainly dry and sunny, western Argyll wet later.

Today:
Bright for much of the day with plenty of sunshine. However, cloud and patchy rain reaching the Argyll Isles in the afternoon edging slowly inland by early evening. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloudy with rain spreading from the west, Ayrshire staying dry until late evening. Cloud and rain staying for the night but patchy in the east. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Wednesday:
Cloudy with outbreaks of rain and drizzle, light winds mean it will be quite dreich with some fog in places too. Perhaps Ayrshire slightly drier. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
A cloudy day again on Thursday and feeling quite humid with outbreaks of rain. Fresher on Friday and brighter with sunshine returning later. Sunny and bright on Saturday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.